

Andrea Ferguson's work is centered around low budget, illusionistic experiences such as community theatre and haunted houses. She is interested in the inevitable failure of such massive efforts put forth by a community and is drawn to the tenderness involved with the spectator's willingness to subscribe to the fantasy.